

Opening of a recruitment process of a Full-time researcher (PhD Scholarship)

in Immigration Law

within the EDEM (European Rights and Migration Team) / Charles De Visscher Centre for International and European Law (CeDIE),

Description

The Charles de Visscher Centre for International and European Law is hiring a full-time researcher in immigration law for a period of three years.

Start date: January 1, 2020

The research focuses on Belgian and European asylum law. It is part of an inter-university research project within an international consortium. The researcher will be part of the EDEM research team.

Application conditions

- Master of Laws with degree acquired or to be acquired on 15 September 2019;
- a master's degree in specialization, additional training in immigration law, are an asset;
- interest in migration law and international law (human and European rights);
- interest in legal research;
- languages: very good knowledge of French and English; passive understanding of Dutch is required..

Deadlines

Applications must be submitted by 15 November 2019 at midnight at the latest by e-mail, accompanied by a CV, baccalaureate and master's notes and a letter of motivation to the

Prof. Sylvie SAROLEA sylvie.sarolea@uclouvain.be

The candidate will indicate all the contact details where he can be reached, including a mobile phone.

Any additional information can be obtained from Professor Sylvie Saroléa at the e-mail address indicated above.